WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 15, 1860. PHYSICAL EDUCATION-THE STRONG

MAN, AND HOW HE BECAME SUCH. The public have been not a little interested, for a few years, in occasional accounts of Dr. Winship, the "strong Yankee's" experiments in physical self-education. He is but about twenty-six years old, five feet seven in- a remedy, and the quality above all others that ches in height, and weighs one hundred and forty-eight pounds. He can lift eleven hundred pounds and is now the best example of physical education in the United States. He was seventeen years of age before he began his experiments, and was then but five feet high, and weighed only one hundred pounds; his health was not good, for he already sutfered from the usual dyspeptical troubles of American youth. So great have been his improvements, that he now declares it to be his opicion that no one, having "an atom of the organs generally, they exert marked effects, strength and life," need despair of the beneats of a right system of training. He instances Dr. Warren's testimony respecting a veteran invalid, who began gymnastics in his seventieth year, with very salutary effects: and, of course, old Cornaro (famous in Addison's Spectator) is not forgotten, who, though no gymnast, began in his fortieth year to re- established. store a broken constitution, and lived a life of health and of enviable cheerfulness till his hendredth year.

of the strong Yankee? He has given it in the Massachusetts Teacher, but unfortunately, in an article of too great length to be read tion, they are very serviceable. much. We propose to take unusual liberties with his communication, in order to condense into a more readable shape, his interesting details. They are the best prescriptions we have ever met for physical self-recupera are treated with great success by these waters. tion; in this day, when "muscular" merit has become a matter of special ambition, and physical training a subject of even moral preachments, it may not be unprofitable to GOUT, their value has been long appreciated. present to the public an example which, from both its moderate good sense, and its liar affection that results from the abuse of Mercuextraordinary results, may be pronounced a rg in symmetric affections, a full course of the Waraodel one.

How, then, has the Yankee doctor surpassed all the pugilistic training of the age? We enumerate, at much length, the principles of his system. We give the most essential particulars, presenting them, however, with our own numeration:

1. He has breathed an abundance of fresh pose, inflation of the lungs. 2. He has drank no ardent spirits, and used no tobacco. The English "training" for our the United States,, should be directed to the "ring," it is well known, prohibits these the "ring," it is well known, prohibits these

3. He has taken, nearly every day, about a half-hour's gymnastic exercise, in the open air, and in his is an example of the surprising moderation with which he has accomplished surprising results.

1. That it is as easy to increase the strength of the human body as it is that of a Giddiness, Gravel, Headaches, of every kind, Inmagnetic. 2. That whatever increased his strength, Blood, Jaundice, Loss of Appetite.

Such is an outline of Dr. Winship's system. It is singularly sensible; it is almost universally practicable, except, perhaps, the prescription about sleep. Could it be generally adopted in the United States, we doubt not that, in one generation, it would reduce the medical faculty fifty per cent., and the rates of life assurance correspondingly, and render us the most vigorous and most longlived nation on the globe, as we are now decidedly the "smartest." WHITE SULPHUR WATER FROM THE WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, GREEN-BRIER COUNTY, VA .- The long established reputation of the WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS for the cure of Chronic diseases, renders comment upon their medicinal efficacy unnecessary.

For many years the waters of these Springs have been transported and used by persons at their own homes, and, experience fully testifies, with the same beneficial effects that have resulted on their use when drank fresh at the fountain These waters are gently APERIENT and very decidedly ALTERATIVE. Their great forte as has given to them their high reputation, is their rative power, or their peculiar operative influences, by which they stimulate Glandular secretions, resolve Chronic inflamations, overcome ob structions in the smaller vessels, and throw off mobil accumulations from diseased organs, thus producing the aiterative or profound changes demanded in almost every case of Chronic disease. As an APERIENT and ALTERATIVE, the range of diseases to which they are applicable will be apparent to medical men - such for instance, as Chronic affections of the Stomach, Bowels Liver, Kidneys, Skin, &c., &c.
